FUTURE NAVY EXPANSION DEEMED NECESSARY

PRES. COOLIDGE CONFERS WITH SEC. WILBUR

TALK ABOUT NAVY PROGRAM AFTER GENEVA PARLEY BREAKDOWN

GENERAL BOARD OF NAVY NOW WORKING ON PLANS FOR CONGRESS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 9.—President Coolidge conferred with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today about the future naval building program as a result of the breakdown of the Geneva disarmament conference and afterward both announced that no immediate change in plans is contemplated.

Both the president and Wilbur, however, left a clear impression that future expansion might be necessary, and Wilbur said the general board of the navy is now working on plans to be submitted to the next session of congress.

In Mr. Coolidge's behalf it was announced that the naval program would go on as usual. He believes the present building program which calls for eight additional light cruisers should be carried forward. He had hoped that an agreement might be reached at the Geneva conference for limitations of further building.

Now that the agreement has failed the United States remains in the same position that she was before.

There is still a possibility that an agreement may be reached some time in the future.

Meantime, this government, it was officially stated, will go ahead with a program to provide what is thought to be necessary for maintenance of the defense of the country.

Mr. Coolidge implied that there might be amplification of the air building program. He recollected that the Morrow board laid down a five-years building project which was ratified by congress but added that marked developments have been made in aviation to point out new fields since that day.

"We expect to go ahead with the building and replacement plan of shipbuilding for the navy as developed by the general board for our needs," Wilbur said in a statement read to newspaper men. "There will be no changes in plan due to inability to reach an agreement at Geneva."

"The exact details to be presented to the next congress have not yet been determined and will be arrived at in the usual manner."

The only amplification of that statement which Wilbur would make was an explanation that the "usual manner" meant the recommendations of the general board would be submitted to the budget bureau and the president as required by law before presentation to congress.

While both statements breathed extreme caution they left a clear impression that some plan might be presented to congress next session to build up the navy to a standpoint necessary for national defense.

Wilbur also made known that difficulties have arisen between the government and the Goodyear Zeppelin Company which may prevent building of new dirigibles three times the size of the Los Angeles. The company, said Wilbur, has refused to enter a contract on a cost plus fixed fee basis. It has insisted that in an experimental enterprise it should be permitted more financial leeway.

Wilbur made known that he intended to give the matter to congress as soon as it reconvenes and let it determine whether contracts should be entered or whether government should drop the plan to build the ships.

The dirigible would be able to carry three fighting airplanes and would cost about $4,500,000.

Wilbur also indicated that the contemplated expansion in the air service would be carried forward on a larger scale. He estimated that under present arrangements the department would be equipped in five years with 1,000 first class fighting planes.

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 9.—President Coolidge would be opposed to establishment of a new government bureau to take over administration of insular possessions. It was announced.

FINAL HOPE OF SACCO AND VANZETTI LOST

JUDGE THAYER DENIES MOTION FOR REVOCATION AND STAY OF SENTENCE

ONLY GOVERNOR OR FEDERAL COURTS MAY NOW INTER- VENE TO SAVE THEM

Attorneys for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti today continued what seemed to be an almost hopeless effort to stop the execution, set for shortly after midnight tomorrow in the Massachusetts state prison.

The world-wide protest against the execution grew in volume.

Strikes and demonstrations were planned in many cities.

A summary of the situation follows:

Boston.—Judge Thayer will rule on final defense motions, after which the federal courts and the governor are the only hope. Mass. protest planned outside prison at hour of execution, with many prominent liberals urged to march to the scene.

New York.—Thousands of police to concentrate on 30 protest meetings scheduled today. One-day strike called, with sponsors claiming many would be out.

London.—Explosion in subway believed due to crank or practical joker. Police guarding American buildings reported armed.

Belgrade.—The Jugo-Slavian federation of labor ordered Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations in every city and town in Jugo-Slavia.

Stockholm.—Fifty thousand participated in Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations yesterday. Six arrested for throwing stones.

Montevideo, Uruguay.—All railway stations, tramways, power plants and 400 commercial houses under guard by police to prevent Sacco-Vanzetti disturbances.

Denver.—State authorities asked injunction against miners of 17 southern Colorado coal mines on strike as Sacco and Vanzetti protest.

Cherbourg.—A crowd on its way to the American consulate was dispersed by police.

Rosario, Argentine.—No newspapers are being published in Rosario, Bahia, Blanca, Tucuman, Mendoza, Cordoba—the principal provincial cities of Argentine—due to the Sacco-Vanzetti protest strike of the printers.

Copenhagen.—Several thousand attended a Sacco-Vanzetti protest meeting in the public square last night, then attempted to march to the American legation but were turned back by police.

Rio De Janeiro.—The union of civil construction workers is promoting a Sacco-Vanzetti protest strike for Thursday.

Havana.—The government has ordered all American property in Cuba placed under strict guard.

Oslo.—The Norwegian defense committee proposed an hour's cessation of work today in all industries.

Mexico City.—A 15 minute Sacco-Vanzetti protest strike has been ordered for tomorrow. The United States embassy and consulate were under guard today.

ONE OF MODELS EQUIPPED WITH DRUMS, MAY HAVE FOUR WHEEL BRAKES

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—The mystery resulting from the secrecy with which Henry Ford has surrounded the plans for his new car doubled today by the appearance of two different kinds of test models on the roads around his experimental laboratories.

One of the models was equipped with drums which obviously contained four wheel brakes.

The other model had drums on all the wheels, but those attached to the front wheels were so small that it was doubtful whether they contained brakes.

On one of the cars, the heavy machinery under body and on the rear axle led to the belief that the car was equipped with a gear shift instead of a clutch shift. There was nothing about the other car, however to prompt that conclusion.

Both models were equipped with wire wheels. They were painted dark green and slate gray. They appeared to be capable of greater speed than the present models for they whizzed by observers at a fast clip.

PRES. COOLIDGE SAYS CASE IS IN HANDS OF STATE

Rapid City, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—President Coolidge feels that the Sacco-Vanzetti case is entirely in the hands of the commonwealth of Massachusetts and a matter over which the federal government has no jurisdiction, it was announced at the executive offices here today.

Mr. Coolidge has not received the plea of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee for stay of execution although he has received communications from time to time from persons who have misinformation about the possibility that the federal government could do something.

When the defense committee plea arrives it will be referred to the justice department.

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Detectives have been placed at the mansion of Governor Donahey and around the state capitol, it was learned today.

The same justice late yesterday had denied motion for a new trial, and, with his new adverse action today, only Gov. Alvan T. Fuller and the federal courts appeared to remain as possible aids in the desperate fight to evade the extreme penalty.

Judge Thayer's decision was brief. It read:

"The motion for revocation of sentence and stay of execution is hereby denied."

(Signed Webster Thayer.)
"To the denial of this motion the defendants duly saved all rights to which they are entitled as a matter of law, whether by exceptions, appeal or otherwise."

Court officials pointed to the fact that Judge Thayer's ruling might make it possible for the defense to carry its case back to the state supreme court.

CHICAGO MAYOR TO SPEAK ON FLOOD CONTROL

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Mayor William Hale Thompson, who was mainly responsible for the flood relief congress here a few weeks ago, now contemplates a nationwide speaking tour in behalf of flood control.

He will leave about September 3 and will speak in Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Topeka, Denver, Omaha, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, New York and Atlanta. A few other cities may be included in the itinerary.

"There will be absolutely nothing political about this tour," the mayor said. "The only purpose is to aid the Mississippi valley in its hour of need."

Members of the advisory board of the Mississippi flood control congress endorse the trip, it is said.

AMERICAN LEGION PREPARES FOR ITS BIG PARADE

SEEKS TO MAKE BEST POSSIBLE SHOWING AT HIBBING CONVENTION

BANDS, DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS MAKE READY FOR FINAL OUTBURST

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—American Legion posts today concentrated on efforts to make the best possible showing in the annual state convention parade.

Early this morning residents were awakened by ambitious bands and drum and bugle corps making ready for the final outburst in the afternoon when several thousand will march through Hibbing's streets.

While all the American Legionnaires attending the ninth annual Minnesota department convention here were concerned with the entertainment features, accredited delegates were busy in the forenoon with convention business at the headquarters in Hibbing's high school.

Conservation of the state's resources was one of the principal discussions at the opening day sessions Monday.

A single department of conservation in Minnesota to conduct affairs of the present departments of forestry, game and fish and the state auditor's office, was urged by Stafford King for the conservation committee.

"It is a fact that cooperation to the greatest interests of the state is not had under such a division of authority and divergence of responsibility," King reported in a discussion of the present system.

The committee on conservation recommended to the convention that the state legislative committee be instructed to prepare for introduction "such legislation as will create an actual single department of conservation under the jurisdiction and management of a commissioner of conservation who shall be responsible for the conservation of state timber and game and fish in its entirety."

Introduction of a legislative report to that effect at the 1928 state convention for consideration was urged by King.

In one of the main addresses to the convention Monday, Paul V. McNutt, Indianapolis, commander of the Indiana department of the American Legion, urged that the convention go on record as opposing "pacifists and radicals in the United States."

Sen. Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota urged that the American Legion should make a study of the basic causes of war and then attempt to eliminate possibility of future conflicts.

"Science can conquer war as it has conquered many diseases," Sen. Shipstead said.

The 40 and 8 of Minnesota held its annual meeting last night and elected the following officers:

Stafford King, St. Paul, grand chief de gare; Barney Rosenberg, Hibbing, grand chief de train; L. A. Brandelburg, St. Paul, grand commissaire in-

FLOODS IN SPRING RIVER, MO., FROM TORRENTIAL RAINS

TWO FEDERAL HIGHWAYS INUN- DATED, CORN FIELDS RUINED

Erie, Kas., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Frequently a flood victim of the Neosho river, Erie this morning was practically isolated from the rest of the world as the result of a near cloudburst here yesterday which sent the stream roaring over its banks to flood all roads approaching the town.

At Service, Kas., the Neosho stood at over twenty feet above normal and was gaining at the rate of six inches an hour. Three and four feet of water covered several highways and corn is badly damaged.

Carthage, Mo., Aug. 9.—Floods in Spring river today threaten the worst damage of years after two days of torrential rains.

Rainfall here yesterday totalled more than two inches, raising the two-day total to more than seven inches. Two federal highways are inundated and corn in the lowlands is ruined.

WHAT IS NEEDED TO PUSH CORN IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—A short spell of rain followed by warm weather is needed for a rapid growth of corn in the farms of Minnesota, Prof. Andrew Boss, chief of the division of farm management at the University of Minnesota agricultural school told the United Press today.

"Most of the small grain farms in southern Minnesota have been harvested and crops in the northern part of the state are now being cut," he stated. "Only the corn crop will be hard hit by the spell of cold weather."

"The weather of the last few weeks has been a mixed blessing, however, since it aids in checking rust which is prevalent in many parts of the state," Prof. Boss said.

NEIGHBORS SAVE 100 ACRE RYE CROP AT WARREN

Warren, Minn., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Because of "neighborliness" 100 acres of winter rye on the farm of Edwin Skurdahl near here today is harvested. Skurdahl's crop was matured and ready to be cut when he was called away by the serious illness of a brother at a neighboring town early Sunday.

It became known that the crop would probably be ruined for neglect. In the afternoon 10 neighbors appeared on the farm with binders and before nightfall the rye was harvested. Last night the local post of the American Legion sent out a call for volunteer shockers and the field was in shock in a few hours.

The brother Edwin went to visit on a farm nearby, died late Monday.

tendant; Willard Sahr, Hutchinson, grand conductor; Henry Young, Willmar, grand garde de la porte; Dr. D. Wilbur Smith, Pipestone, chemist nationale, and Paul Wentlandt, Olivia, alternate chemist nationale.

Tom O'Leary, St. Paul, was chosen grand correspondent by the newly elected chief de gare.

The fight for the 1928 convention is reaching its peak with Austin apparently determined to swing the delegates in their favor. Red Wing's delegation is concentrating on the 1930 convention.

Selection of the next meeting place and election of Minnesota department officers will take place at the closing sessions Wednesday.

TWIN SISTERS, WIVES OF BROTHERS, MOTHERS SAME DAY

Pana, Ill., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Twin sisters, the wives of brothers, became mothers on the same day here.

Mrs. Orie Hilton gave birth to a daughter yesterday morning and her twin sister, Mrs. Bernard Hilton, gave birth to a son a few hours later. Before they married the Hilton boys they were the Misses Schneider.

AVIATORS TO SEEK NEW AIR LAURELS

TO WING THEIR WAY FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO HAWAII

POSSIBLE THAT NOT ALL OF THE ENTRANTS WILL TOE THE MARK

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—When the official starter says "go" next Friday, sending aviators seeking new laurels on their way to Hawaii, it is possible that not all of the entrants will toe the mark.

Unforeseen difficulties today faced some of the contestants and may force them to abandon the flight and the chance to win the Dole race prize.

Of the 15 aviators entered, but eight are in the San Francisco bay region. The others were said to be either enroute here or ready to start.

The federal ruling that each plane must have a minimum capacity of 400 gallons of gasoline sent at least two of the aviators here scurrying about to add additional storage tanks.

It is possible that one or two or more of the seven planes which have not arrived may get here even too late for the official starting time, noon, Aug. 12, further slicing the number of actual contestants.

EASTERN TENNESSEE SPEAKS UP FOR FRANK O. LOWDEN

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Eastern Tennessee, the republican stronghold of the south, today joined the presidential boom for Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

Frank L. West, republican leader, announced that representatives of several counties would meet here Saturday to organize a Lowden-for-President club.

The announcement by West was the first indication of the stand southern republicans will take since President Coolidge made known his decision not to be a candidate.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS TAKE MANY PRECAUTIONS

Washington, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Extraordinary precautions against possible bombings by cranks of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers were taken today by state department officials.

Six entrances to the department building were barred, leaving only two entrances open under heavy guard. A guard was also stationed at the private "diplomats' entrance."

Meantime, police guarded the residence of Secretary Kellogg, the temporary White House, and other official residences.

Building inspectors announced that the collapse of the Fellowship Forum building here was due to improper excavations, not bombs.

CAPT. ERWIN IN HOP OFF DALLAS TO HONG KONG

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Capt. William P. Erwin plans to hop off from Love field here tonight for San Francisco on the first leg of an attempted Dallas-to-Hong Kong flight.

At San Francisco Erwin, who will be accompanied by his wife as navigator, will participate in the Dole flight to Honolulu.

POISONOUS GASES EMITTED FROM ITS HOLD

FROM ITS MAKESHIFT MAST DANGLED EXTINGUISHED LANTERN

STEAMSHIP LIBERATOR PUT A BOAT OUT TO SUB BUT DID NOTHING TO DERELICT

By JOHN N. PALMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Conjecture continued today to follow the last sighting of the submarine "027," gray hulk of mysteries, drifting almost awash in the ship lanes of the Pacific.

Poisonous gases in which no life could endure repelled attempts of seamen from the steamship Liberator, Saturday to penetrate its secrets.

A makeshift mast, on which dangles an extinguished lantern gives hopes that all hands escaped after making an unavailing signal of distress.

While speculating on the things the hulk may contain, navy and marine circles awaited further reports of its weird cruise, and some were apprehensive that the next report might be one of disaster.

When sighted Saturday the half submerged vessel was in the vicinity of the Midway Islands, approximately 1,200 miles from Honolulu.

"027" is the only clue to its identity and no government has yet claimed its ownership.

If its crew escaped and reached land safely, some report should have filtered in to lines of established communication.

Recent submarine disasters on the Pacific are being recalled and subsequent events checked to determine whether the vessels were later accounted for.

All the United States navy undersea craft which went down in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, March 24, 1915, were raised and emptied of their dead, navy records show.

Eighty-five men died in a submarine disaster off Kobe in 1923, but the vessel and bodies were recovered.

Another Japanese submarine that sank off Sasebo after colliding with a steamer has not been recovered so far as can be determined from records here.

In Japan's great earthquake 1: 1919 man vessels were reported to have gone down at the Japanese naval base near Yokohama.

The list of vessels lost, as announced by the Japanese government, included destroyers and other war craft, though no mention was made of submarines. It was believed possible that all the vessels lost were not listed.

The "027" was first sighted about four months ago by the freighter Elk Ridge, en route between San Francisco and Yokohama. Captain J. P. Flynn reported the craft appeared to be between 170 and 180 feet long.

"There was a stump of a mast with a lantern hanging on it," he reported, "as if the lantern had been put out as a distress signal. The lantern had been extinguished. We passed about 300 feet from it but the weather was heavy and we thought it too dangerous to attempt to board her."

When sighted Saturday the hulk had drifted about 600 miles.

The steamship Liberator, United States shipping board vessel, approached closely enough to put out a boat to the submarine.

Sailors boarded it but when they attempted to pry open the hatch, they were thrown back by the outward rush of sickening fumes. They were unable to determine the nature of the gas.

Navy experts believed the fumes were undoubtedly deadly chlorine gas formed by the chemical reaction of salt sea water on the giant storage batteries in the hulk of the submarine.

They took careful note of the markings "027" and returned to their ship. The captain, after reporting the incident and advising that the hulk be posted as a menace to navigation, continued toward Yokohama.

Considerable criticism has been directed toward him for his failure to either take the derelict in tow or blow it up.

DATED, CORN FIELDS RUINED

Erie, Kas., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Frequently a flood victim of the Neosho river, Erie this morning was practically isolated from the rest of the world as the result of a near cloudburst here yesterday which sent the stream roaring over its banks to flood all roads approaching the town.

At Service, Kas., the Neosho stood at over twenty feet above normal and was gaining at the rate of six inches an hour. Three and four feet of water covered several highways and corn is badly damaged.

Carthage, Mo., Aug. 9.—Floods in Spring river today threaten the worst damage of years after two days of torrential rains.

Rainfall here yesterday totalled more than two inches, raising the two-day total to more than seven inches. Two federal highways are inundated and corn in the lowland is ruined.

WHAT IS NEEDED TO PUSH CORN IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—A short spell of rain followed by warm weather is needed for a rapid growth of corn in the farms of Minnesota, Prof. Andrew Boss, chief of the division of farm management at the University of Minnesota agricultural school told the United Press today.

"Most of the small grain farms in southern Minnesota have been harvested and crops in the northern part of the state are now being cut," he stated. "Only the corn crop will be hard hit by the spell of cold weather."

"The weather of the last few weeks has been a mixed blessing, however, since it aids in checking rust which is prevalent in many parts of the state," Prof. Boss said.

NEIGHBORS SAVE 100 ACRE RYE CROP AT WARREN

Warren, Minn., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Because of "neighborliness" 100 acres of winter rye on the farm of Edwin Skurdahl near here today is harvested. Skurdahl's crop was matured and ready to be cut when he was called away by the serious illness of a brother at a neighboring town early Sunday.

It became known that the crop would probably be ruined for neglect. In the afternoon 10 neighbors appeared on the farm with binders and before nightfall the rye was harvested. Last night the local post of the American Legion sent out a call for volunteer shockers and the field was in shock in a few hours.

The brother Edwin went to visit on a farm nearby, died late Monday.

tendant; Willard Sahr, Hutchinson, grand conducteur; Henry Young, Willmar, grand garde de la porte; Dr. D. Wilbur Smith, Pipestone, cheminot nationale, and Paul Wentland, Olivia, alternate cheminot nationale.

Tom O'Leary, St. Paul, was chosen grand correspondent by the newly elected chief de gare.

The fight for the 1928 convention is reaching its peak with Austin apparently determined to swing the delegates in their favor. Red Wing's delegation is concentrating on the 1930 convention.

Selection of the next meeting place and election of Minnesota department officers will take place at the closing sessions Wednesday.

TWIN SISTERS, WIVES OF BROTHERS, MOTHERS SAME DAY

Panna, Ill., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Twin sisters, the wives of brothers, became mothers on the same day here.

Mrs. Orle Hilton gave birth to a daughter yesterday morning and her twin sister, Mrs. Bernard Hilton, gave birth to a son a few hours later. Before they married the Hilton boys they were the Misses Schneider.

AVIATORS TO SEEK NEW AIR LAURELS

TO WING THEIR WAY FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO HAWAII

POSSIBLE THAT NOT ALL OF THE ENTRANTS WILL TOE THE MARK

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—When the official starter says "go" next Friday, sending aviators seeking new laurels on their way to Hawaii, it is possible that not all of the entrants will toe the mark.

Unforeseen difficulties today faced some of the contestants and may force them to abandon the flight and the chance to win the Dole race prize.

Of the 15 aviators entered, but eight are in the San Francisco bay region. The others were said to be either enroute here or ready to start.

The federal ruling that each plane must have a minimum capacity of 400 gallons of gasoline sent at least two of the aviators here scurrying about to add additional storage tanks.

It is possible that one or two or more of the seven planes which have not arrived may get here even too late for the official starting time, noon, Aug. 12, further slicing the number of actual contestants.

EASTERN TENNESSEE SPEAKS UP FOR FRANK O. LOWDEN

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Eastern Tennessee, the republican stronghold of the south, today joined the presidential boom for Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

Frank L. West, republican leader, announced that representatives of several counties would meet here Saturday to organize a Lowden-for-President club.

The announcement by West was the first indication of the stand southern republicans will take since President Coolidge made known his decision not to be a candidate.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS TAKE MANY PRECAUTIONS

Washington, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Extraordinary precautions against possible bombings by cranks of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers were taken today by state department officials.

Six entrances to the department building were barred, leaving only two entrances open under heavy guard. A guard was also stationed at the private "diplomats' entrance." Meantime, police guarded the residence of Secretary Kellogg, the temporary White House, and other official residences.

Building inspectors announced that the collapse of the Fellowship Forum building here was due to improper excavations, not bombs.

CAPT. ERWIN IN HOP OFF DALLAS TO HONG KONG

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—Capt. William P. Erwin plans to hop off from Love field here tonight for San Francisco on the first leg of an attempted Dallas-to-Hong Kong flight.

At San Francisco Erwin, who will be accompanied by his wife as navigator, will participate in the Dole flight to Honolulu.

POISONOUS GASES EMITTED FROM ITS HOLD

STEAMSHIP LIBERATOR PUT A BOAT OUT TO SUB BUT DID NOTHING TO DERELICT

By JOHN N. PALMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Conjecture continued today to follow the last sighting of the submarine "027," gray hulk of mystery, drifting almost awash in the ship lanes of the Pacific.

Poisonous gases in which no life could endure repelled attempts of seamen from the steamship Liberator, Saturday to penetrate its secrets.

A makeshift mast, on which dangles an extinguished lantern gives hopes that all hands escaped after making an unavailing signal of distress.

While speculating on the things the hulk may contain, navy and marine circles awaited further reports of its weird cruise, and some were apprehensive that the next report might be one of disaster.

When sighted Saturday the half submerged vessel was in the vicinity of the Midway Islands, approximately 1,200 miles from Honolulu.

"027" is the only clue to its identity and no government has yet claimed its ownership.

If its crew escaped and reached land safely, some report should have filtered in to lines of established communication.

Recent submarine disasters on the Pacific are being recalled and subsequent events checked to determine whether the vessels were later accounted for.

All the United States navy undersea craft which went down in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, March 24, 1915, were raised and emptied of their dead, navy records show.

Eighty-five men died in a submarine disaster off Kobe in 1923, but the vessel and bodies were recovered. Another Japanese submarine that sank off Sasebo after colliding with a steamer has not been recovered so far as can be determined from records here.

In Japan's great earthquake of 1919 many vessels were reported to have gone down at the Japanese naval base near Yokohama.

The list of vessels lost, as announced by the Japanese government, included destroyers and other war craft, though no mention was made of submarines. It was believed possible that all the vessels lost were not listed.

The "027" was first sighted about four months ago by the freighter Elk Ridge, en route between San Francisco and Yokohama. Captain J. P. Flynn reported the craft appeared to be between 170 and 180 feet long.

"There was a stump of a mast with a lantern hanging on it," he reported, "as if the lantern had been put out as a distress signal. The lantern had been extinguished. We passed about 300 feet from it but the weather was heavy and we thought it too dangerous to attempt to board her."

When sighted Saturday the hulk had drifted about 600 miles.

The steamship Liberator, United States shipping board vessel, approached closely enough to put out a boat to the submarine.

Sailors boarded it but when they attempted to pry open the hatch, they were thrown back by the outward rush of sickening fumes. They were unable to determine the nature of the gas.

Navy experts believed the fumes were undoubtedly deadly chlorine gas formed by the chemical reaction of salt sea water on the giant storage batteries in the hulk of the submarine.

They took careful note of the markings "027" and returned to their ship. The captain, after reporting the incident and advising that the hulk be posted as a menace to navigation, continued toward Yokohama.

Considerable criticism has been directed toward him for his failure to either take the derelict in tow or blow it up.

Shore of Lake George

George J. Schaefer, who had a hunting camp on the shore of Lake George, has disposed of his holdings to a club to be known as the Lake George club, composed of prominent Minneapolis business men. Mr. Schaefer will retain a membership in the club.

The Lake George club has secured the shooting rights on practically all of the shore properties on Lake George, and this territory is now being posted with "No Hunting" and "No Trespassing" signs. It is their idea to protect property and game and fish in accordance with the laws of the state in that territory. The local game wardens will aid them in every way in protecting the game and fish in accordance with these laws.

The men who have purchased this property are very enthusiastic over the forming of the club and are looking forward to some good hunting and fishing.

HENRY FORD IS OPPOSED TO EXECUTION

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—(UP)—Henry Ford today expressed opposition to the electrocution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

The manufacturer said he did not know much about the case but that killing them would cut off all chance of righting the wrong if they were not guilty.

"If there is any doubt about the fairness of the trial they should be given a new one," Ford said adding quickly, "but in any event they should not be killed."

"The country and the capitalists who are charged by sympathizers of these men with responsibility for the killing system would be far better off if the culprits were not subjected to the death penalty."

"Human judgment may be perfectly sincere and still be mistaken."

"Killing of human beings by the state cuts off any possibility of righting a mistaken judgment."

"I believe Sacco and Vanzetti should not be executed. The sentence of death could be revoked without the verdict of guilty being annulled and this would give opportunity to weigh new evidence that may appear in the men's favor."

LAKE GEORGE CLUB
BUYS PROPERTY

Prominent Minneapolis Business Men
Take Over Holdings of George J. Schaefer

WILL PROTECT GAME

Members Look Forward to Good Hunting and Fishing on Shore of Lake George

George J. Schaefer, who had a hunting camp on the shore of Lake George, has disposed of his holdings to a club to be known as the Lake George club, composed of prominent Minneapolis business men. Mr. Schaefer will retain a membership in the club.

The Lake George club has secured the shooting rights on practically all of the shore properties on Lake George, and this territory is now being posted with "No Hunting" and "No Trespassing" signs. It is their idea to protect property and game and fish in accordance with the laws of the state in that territory. The local game warden will aid them in every way in protecting the game and fish in accordance with these laws.

The men who have purchased this property are very enthusiastic over the forming of the club and are looking forward to some good hunting and fishing.

HENRY FORD
IS OPPOSED TO EXECUTION

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—(UP)—Henry Ford today expressed opposition to the electrocution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

The manufacturer said he did not know much about the case but that killing them would cut off all chance of righting the wrong if they were not guilty.

"If there is any doubt about the fairness of the trial they should be given a new one," Ford said adding quickly, "but in any event they should not be killed."

"The country and the capitalists who are charged by sympathizers of these men with responsibility for the killing system would be far better off if the culprits were not subjected to the death penalty."

"Human judgment may be perfectly sincere and still be mistaken. Killing of human beings by the state cuts off any possibility of righting a mistaken judgment."

"I believe Sacco and Vanzetti should not be executed. The sentence of death could be revoked without the verdict of guilty being annulled and this would give opportunity to weigh new evidence that may appear in the men's favor."

MILITARY HONORS LATE MAJ.-GENERAL LEONARD WOOD

TWO 19-GUN SALUTES, 3 VOL-LEYS MUSKETRY, TRUM-PETER'S "TAPS"

WOOD GAVE BEST OF HIS LIFE TO COUNTRY IN THREE-FOLD CAPACITY

By HARRY W. FRANTZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Aug. 9. — (UP) —
Back through the city of his triumphs and defeats rode Major General Leonard Wood today in a flag-draped casket to a final resting place beside his famous Rough Riders in Arlington National Cemetery.

Military authorities did their former chief of staff honor. Generals and buck privates and men high in civil life escorted his body. Rain, falling in spasmodic drizzles, reduced the crowds along the line of march to mere handfuls.

Two 19-gun salutes, three volleys of musketry and a trumpeter's "taps" marked the interment of the governor-general of the Philippines who had given the best of his 67 years to his country as doctor, soldier and administrator, meeting criticism and acclaim alike with silence.

The funeral caisson was drawn by six dapple-gray horses, each with a rider. Behind it, and led by cavalry Private G. C. Hood, came the black gelding in military caparison once ridden by General Wood in Washington. It was almost hidden in a black mantle, but the general's boots could be seen in the reversed stirrups, and his scabbard, with hillock backwards, was attached to the saddle.

Further back were Spanish American war veterans and other mourners. Pedro Guevara, Philippines resident commissioner, rode in one car. In another rode Vicente Villa-min, New York attorney and publicist, who long had defended Wood's policies as governor-general of the islands. Secretary of State Kellogg, Postmaster General New and Acting
Secretary of War MacNider, represented the government.

From the capitol the procession crept along Pennsylvania Avenue, turning off past the Washington monument and thence over the Polo-mac river along the military road to Arlington.

The casket was lowered to the grave near the battleship Maine monument—mute reminder of the Spanish-American war in which Wood started his climb to fame.
Flowers were heaped on the grave.
They came from the Philippine commissioner, the president of Cuba, the premier of Japan and many others.
The trumpeter stepped forward. His companions at salute, he blew "taps."

The echoes had scarcely died away
when Fort Myer's guns started roaring—19 guns for the dead.

Warfare of the Future

Wars of the future will be more like those of primitive times by reason of the universal character of conscription. In ancient days the whole tribe fought, even women, children and old men hurled stones at Caesar's legionnaires at the time of the conquest of Gaul. In the next war the whole population will be engaged,
"without regard to age or sex," as the new French defense law puts it. Women will be mobilized, not for fighting service "in the beginning," but for work behind the front. The old peasant on the slopes of the Alps or Pyrenees will be as much subject to aerial attacks as the soldier at the front.
For the enemy is going to work on the same principle, it is expected, that is without "regard to age or sex." Parliament passed the law unanimously, with the exception of the Communists. The only lively debate was occasioned by the clause that members of parliament might be liable for active service.—Pierre Van Paassen, in Atlanta Constitution.

Smoking and Throat Protection

As viewed by 9651* Doctors

WHAT is the quality that so many of those whose voices are precious have found that makes LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes delightful and of no possible injury to those voices?

For the answer, a number of physicians, many of them leading physicians, in various parts of the United States were recently asked these
two questions:

Q 1—In your judgment is the heat treatment
or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q 2—Do you think from your experience with
LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

Consider what these figures mean; consider
that they represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.

that members of parliament might be liable for active service.—Pierre

Smoking and Throat Protection

As viewed by 9651* Doctors

WHAT is the quality that so many of those whose voices are precious have found that makes LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes delightful and of no possible injury to those voices?

For the answer, a number of physicians, many of them leading physicians, in various parts of the United States were recently asked these
two questions:

Q 1—In your judgment is the heat treatment
or toasting process applied to tobac-
cos previously aged and cured, likely
to free the cigarette from irritation to
the throat?

9651 doctors answered this
question "YES".

Q 2—Do you think from your experience with
LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than
other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

Consider what these figures mean; consider
that they represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is
to know.

DOWN WITH THE SOW THISTLE

WE are down on all kinds of weeds from quack grass to dandelions and dogweed, but today, in our mail, we received a letter from the County Agricultural Agent E. G. Roth, sounding a note of alarm of the advance of the sow thistle. This sow thistle is evidently as destructive a force as any of its pretentious weed neighbors.

The life of the farmer is an endless battle against grasshoppers, cutworms, corn borers, rust, weeds, inclement weather, barberry bushes, market fluctuations, and to cap the climax, this sow thistle has thrust its snout into the fields.

Sow thistle is now in bloom and should be destroyed not allowing it to go to seed. This weed which spreads both by a seed like the dandelion and a root-stock like quack grass is the most serious menace of all agricultural weeds. Every farmer should know this plant. This plant usually grows about three feet high, has a yellow flower like the dandelion and a seed like the dandelion.

Several good specimens have been brought into the Farm Bureau and are on exhibit there. Any farmer who is in doubt as to what the sow thistle is and looks like, is requested to drop into the County Agent's office in the court house and look at the sample there. Get the sow thistle before it gets the farm.

HONOR FARM CLUB BOYS

FARM club boys are being honored with a week's outing at the State Fair. Successful ones in our neighborhood include Clinton Forster of Brainerd and Carrol Nelson of Fort Ripley. They are among the 159 who were chosen because of their outstanding work in junior club projects.

The various club projects included such things as raising of dairy cattle, baby beeves, poultry, pigs and sheep, the planting of corn and other products, and leadership work. The boys are 16 years of age and more.

During the encampment which will open the first day of the fair, September 3, and continue until the fair closes seven days later, the boys will have recreational activities in their own camp and will attend the fair and make trips through the Twin Cities. While one group is in the grandstand the other groups will tour the various departments of the fair so that every boy will have a chance to see the entire fair. The boys will have an entire week of practical education and entertainment.

Expenses of the trip to the Minnesota Fair and maintenance while there will be paid by the management of the Fair. Comfortable quarters are provided the boys in the Farm Boys' camp building on machinery hill. The greatest care will be exercised in looking after the welfare of the boys while in camp.

FISH DO NOT LIKE THUNDER STORMS

THOSE who fish the muscullonge know that there is little to be accomplished in this line of sport following a thunder storm. The muskie retires to the deep and remains there for several hours following sharp thunder.

The reason for this may be reflected in a loss that was reported from the Detroit Lakes fish hatchery last week. Mr. Huderle, superintendent of the hatchery, has around ten thousand small black bass in a pond where they had been hatched and was giving them careful attention preparatory for distribution to nearby lakes.

Following a storm last week that was accompanied by severe claps of thunder Mr. Huderle discovered that all of the young bass in this one pond had been killed. Mr. Surber, state superintendent of hatcheries states that similar instances of this kind have been reported, the fish either being killed by electricity or by the concussion from the thunder.—Park Rapids Enterprise.

LONGEST STRETCH OF PAVING IN MINNESOTA

BRAINERD has the honor of being a terminal of the longest stretch of cement paving in the state of Minnesota.

This paving runs from Brainerd via St. Cloud, Twin Cities, Duluth, Virginia, to Grand Rapids, a circle tour of 416 miles. This is believed to be the longest continuous pavement west of Illinois, except on the Pacific coast.

Brainerd feels the honor keenly of being linked up with such distinguished cities and also falls heir now to a constantly increasing run of traffic.

We also have, plus the cement paving, a nice stretch of tarvia, including the section from Brainerd to Nisswa, being re-coated, and the new section from Nisswa to Pequot.

ESTABLISHING GAME REFUGES

NINE petitions for the establishment of state game refuges will be aired at hearings to be conducted throughout the state, it has been announced by Jay F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner.

Cities and dates of the meetings follow:

Middle River, Marshall county, Tuesday; Gary, Norman county, Friday; Hutchinson, McLeod county, Saturday; West Concord, Dodge county, Aug. 16; Staples, Todd county, Aug. 20; Brainerd, Crow Wing county, Aug. 22; Bemidji, Beltrami county, Aug. 23; St. Peter, Nicollet county, and Raymond, Kandiyohi county, Aug. 26.

MIXING booze and gasoline is a precarious undertaking. If it only harmed the driver and his car it would not be so bad, but innocent people, conforming to all traffic regulations, do not relish being exposed to the whims of a drunken driver who has no regard for human life or property. The courts are showing backbone in meting out stiff sentences.

WE read an article about a woman who had quadruplets and came to the conclusion that the job of raising them gave her nothing else to talk about.

CHECKERS are busy counting highway travel and everybody is interested, in fact, if a car or truck is apparently unnoticed, a friendly blast of the horn is given.

THIS cool weather may cause some discomfort, but the farmers are satisfied as it checks the spread of rust.

WELL, there will now be plenty of candidates who do "choose" to run for president in 1928," says the Minneapolis Journal.

Gayest Suits Are Worn at Beaches

Variety of Materials, Colors, Features of Fashions at Resorts.

Certainly, there is nothing indelicate, nothing casual in the new fashions in bathing suits. They are the very reverse of not only one clearly defined style but several, says a fashion writer in the New York Times, showing quite plainly the importance this occasional costume has come to have in the season's collection. The evolution of the bathing suit has been interesting, often droll. In the light of today's standard of dress earlier costumes were undeniably modish but clumsy and ugly beyond description, with bulky bloomers, long black stockings and skirts that reached to the ankle. Then, too, there were chunky blouses, with high neck and with sleeves to the wrist. This bathing suit, sometimes slightly modified but the same in essentials, was demanded by the general rules of delicacy and decorum for every woman on the beach. Some of the models were especially dreadful because the bloomers were made to conceal even the stockinged leg down to the ankle and colors were pretty much limited to black and navy blue.

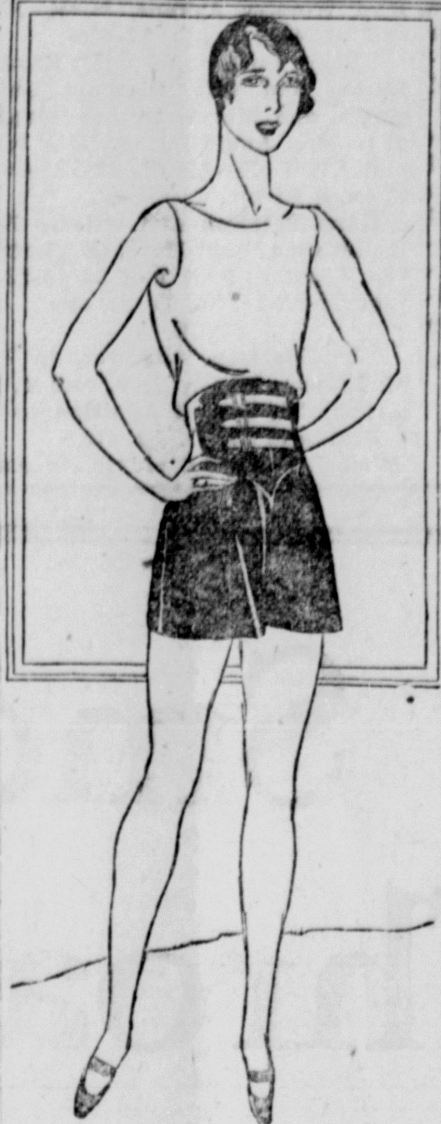

Some Allowances Made.

Some allowances were made for youth and some of the bulk eliminated—skirts and sleeves shortened and the necklines permitted more breathing space. And as the styles became less severe, very pretty and becoming costumes, however demure, were seen at fashionable watering places. Flannel and alpaca were gradually varied with light serges, mohairs, and, after a bit, pretty suits with shorter skirts, shorter sleeves, and an apology for knickers were being made of silks and satines. This shortening and slenderizing movement continued until the Jersey and silk two-piece—meaning a belted blouse and abbreviated knickerbockers—came in, and after that the gesture by way of a bathing or beach costume which has been passed and accepted for several seasons has become thoroughly familiar. The mode has indicated a change and the style a swing in the other direction, which was, perhaps, to be expected. A year ago, as in the preceding season, bathing suits were almost like a uniform, with only varying decorative details. One saw at the seashore only the scant little trouser and sweater outfit, and almost nothing else was offered in the shops.

It is quite otherwise this season. The printed silks and cottons which came out last summer as bathing costumes de luxe are duplicated by the designers and makers who are showing the picturesque possibilities of many of the new fabrics. It was Palm Beach that had last year and again this year the cream of the mode, particularly in the extreme models. The ultra and bizarre find their background on the Riviera and at other resorts of Europe and America, and the note they strike affords contrast for the more quiet things. Some modernistic designs which have compelled recognition are being used by some of the best artists. Suits and reach just to the knee, the material being a finely woven silk jersey cloth.

Silk, Wool, Cotton, Rayon. Jersey in different weights and in countless variety of colors is exceedingly popular and is shown in all silk, wool and silk, all wool, cotton and rayon. A striking bathing suit done by Jenny has a large, white gull embroidered and applied on one side of the sweater blouse of navy blue jersey, which is fantastically trimmed around the bottom with deep silk fringe caught up on one side. This is worn with short trunks of the jersey. Paton's conception of a bathing suit is a chic boyish model with a modestly cut shirt and track trousers worn with a belt. In these the shirt and trousers are attached, being in reality one garment, though giving the separate effect because of the contrasting colors. A white monogrammed shirt of crepe de chine has trousers of navy silk jersey belted in a tailored manner at the normal waistline.

In one smart, boyish suit the dark material of the breeches is used in a band to outline the neck of the shirt with a trimming motif of small pearl buttons in front. Taking this model as a foundation, Paton varies it by the addition of a short skirt of plaided taffeta in a blue and white plaid.

The beltline is emphasized in the new style bathing suit, in which it is placed at the normal point or very low. A stylish model made of silk jersey has the usual brief trousers with a very long tunic blouse which is belted slightly above the hips. Long stockings and ankle-strap rubberized shoes complete this conservative outfit. Another has a sweater blouse, straight and long, of bright blue and white jersey, in wide stripes, belted low with a strap of red patent leather over plain blue trousers. Many of these jersey suits resemble sports dress for any athletic activity, lacking only the petticoat, and some are altogether engaging in color. One is lovely in bright green and white, scarlet and black and white are stunning. The same simple, tailored model in several variants is made of mohair, silk, broadcloth, pussy willow, rayon, and the brightly tinted tub silks.

Taffeta Is Popular.

Taffeta is, next to jersey, the most popular material for bathing suits and beach clothes generally. This, more than any of the other goods suitable for the purpose, is shown in the three-piece bathing suits that suggest those of the old style. They are made with blouse or shirt and trousers attached with a belt band at the normal line to which is buttoned or sewed a short, full skirt. Some of these taffeta models are charming, with two colors combined or contrasted in the design. A blouse of plain blue taffeta is put together with a skirt of Scotch plaid, bands of which are added to trim the neck and armholes. A suit of white taffeta is combined with a dashing red and white check.

Printed silks make most decorative bathing suits. Some of the striking models are of the large patterns of cubistic design, printed in intense colors, and are even more popular for the summer resorts than they were at Palm Beach, where some startlingly gay costumes of this type were worn. Geometric, conventional and floral patterns are equally good and are being used for whole beach ensembles. Pretty, rather prim little prints are shown in some of the suits that have skirts. These reflect the English and Dolly Varden prints in cotton goods which are liked by some designers for simple bathing suits and beach wraps.

Black is much used, some chic suits of all-black taffeta being made without other trimming than a monogram embroidered in white. A costume of black taffeta is made in an unusual combination of white canvas and another is trimmed with bands of white rubberized goods. The suits of bright red taffeta are most attractive and the white shoes, belt or other accessories make jolly color contrasts.

The printed silks and cottons which came out last summer as bathing costumes de luxe are duplicated by the designers and makers who are showing the picturesque possibilities of many of the new fabrics. It was Palm Beach that had last year and again this year the cream of the mode, particularly in the extreme models. The ultra and bizarre find their background on the Riviera and at other resorts of Europe and America, and the note they strike affords contrast for the more quiet things. Some modernistic designs which have compelled recognition are being used by some of the best artists. Suits and reach just to the knee, the material being a finely woven silk jersey cloth.

Silk, Wool, Cotton, Rayon.

Jersey in different weights and in countless variety of colors is exceedingly popular and is shown in all silk, wool and silk, all wool, cotton and rayon. A striking bathing suit done by Jenny has a large, white gull embroidered and applied on one side of the sweater blouse of navy blue jersey, which is fantastically trimmed around the bottom with deep silk fringe caught up on one side. This is worn with short trunks of the jersey. Paton's conception of a bathing suit is a chic boyish model with a modestly cut shirt and track trousers worn with a belt. In these the shirt and trousers are attached, being in reality one garment, though giving the separate effect because of the contrasting colors. A white monogrammed shirt of crepe de chine has trousers of navy silk jersey belted in a tailored manner at the normal waistline.

In one smart, boyish suit the dark material of the breeches is used in a band to outline the neck of the shirt with a trimming motif of small pearl buttons in front. Taking this model as a foundation, Paton varies it by the addition of a short skirt of plaid taffeta in a blue and white plaid.

The belted line is emphasized in the new style bathing suit, in which it is placed at the normal point or very low. A stylish model made of silk jersey has the usual brief trousers with a very long tunic blouse which is belted slightly above the hips. Long stockings and ankle-strap rubberized shoes complete this conservative outfit. Another has a sweater blouse, straight and long, of bright blue and white jersey, in wide stripes, belted low with a strap of red patent leather over plain blue trousers. Many of these jersey suits resemble sports dress for any athletic activity, lacking only the petticoat, and some are altogether engaging in color. One is lovely in bright green and white, scarlet and black and white are stunning. The same simple, tailored model in several variants is made of mohair, silk, broadcloth, pussy willow, rayon, and the brightly tinted tub silks.

Taffeta Is Popular.

Taffeta is, next to jersey, the most popular material for bathing suits and beach clothes generally. This, more than any of the other goods suitable for the purpose, is shown in the three-piece bathing suits that suggest those of the old style. They are made with blouse or shirt and trousers attached with a belt band at the normal line to which is buttoned or sewed a short, full skirt. Some of these taffeta models are charming, with two colors combined or contrasted in the design. A blouse of plain blue taffeta is put together with a skirt of Scotch plaid, bands of which are added to trim the neck and armholes. A suit of white taffeta is combined with a dashing red and white check.

Printed silks make most decorative bathing suits. Some of the striking models are of the large patterns of cubistic design, printed in intense colors, and are even more popular for the summer resorts than they were at Palm Beach, where some startlingly gay costumes of this type were worn. Geometric, conventional and floral patterns are equally good and are being used for whole beach ensembles. Pretty, rather prim little prints are shown in some of the suits that have skirts. These reflect the English and Dolly Varden prints in cotton goods which are liked by some designers for simple bathing suits and beach wraps.

Black is much used, some elite suits of all-black taffeta being made without other trimming than a monogram embroidered in white. A costume of black taffeta is made in an unusual combination of white canvas and another is trimmed with bands of white rubberized goods. The suits of bright red taffeta are most attractive and the white shoes, belt or other accessories make fully color contrasts.

ERRORS COST N. E. TEAM 2 TO 1 VICTORY IN SEASON CLASSIC

HOUSE OF DAVID TAKES ADVANTAGE OF EVERY ERROR

LARGEST CROWD OF THE YEAR TURNS OUT; NUTTING HAS PERFECT DAY IN OUTFIELD

RICHMOND HURLS FINE BALL AND BRINGS IN LONE RUN ON A SWANSON'S DRIVE

Before the largest attendance of the season, with an estimated crowd of 2,000 people, the House of David vegetarian team of whiskered ball players nosed out the Northeast team by the score of 2 to 1 in the season's diamond classic at the N. P. field yesterday afternoon.

An error over third base cost the N. E. boys the game when Faust, the House of David short stop, stole home after stealing the third base, Swanson, the House's receiver, brought in the other run when he came home on an outfield catch.

The House of David secured five hits with one error chalked against them while the local team made the same number of hits but allowed four errors.

Richmond, the N. E. heaver, who gave a nice pitching performance, brought in the lone run for Brainerd through a pretty drive by A. Swanson.

Nutting, center fielder, was the hero of the game. He took every chance that came his way, grabbing five long drives out of mid air.

The House of David boys stated that Brainerd put up the strongest competition they had received for a long time.

The play by innings follows:

First Inning

House of David—Faust walked; Danaher bunted to Richmond, Faust being thrown out at second. Danaher caught stealing at second, and Hipp was thrown out at first by Eiling.

Brainerd—A. Swanson grounded out at first; Eiling followed suit and Nutting flied to Sharrock.

Second Inning

House of David—Sharrock flied to Nutting. Heckman flied to Nutting. Miller hit to third, making first ahead of A. Swanson's throw; Swanson flied over first and was safe on a fielder's choice. Falk grounded to first, retiring the side.

Brainerd—Bedal grounded to Wierman, out at first; Jarboe hit a Texas Leaguer and H. Swanson advanced him by hitting another. Schwendeman struck out and Richmond did the same.

Third Inning

House of David—Wierman flied to Eiling; Faust flied to H. Swanson; Danaher flied to left field, and Hipp grounded to second.

Brainerd—Skiba struck out; A. Swanson did the same and Eiling also took three whiffs at the pill.

Fourth Inning

House of David—Sharrock, the reported heavy hitter of the visitors, fanned the air for the first man up; Heckman walked, Miller flied out to Nutting with the latter making a beautiful running catch which resulted in a double play, Heckman being thrown out at first.

Brainerd—Nutting hit safely to short stop; Bedal followed with a hit through the same position. Nutting was caught stealing third. Jarboe struck out and H. Swanson was thrown out at first from third.

Fifth Inning

House of David—Swanson took first on a fielder's choice; Falk grounded out at first; Wierman flied to Nutting and Swanson came home; Faust flied to Nutting.

Brainerd—Schwendeman struck out; Richmond hit over third; Skiba struck out; A. Swanson hit over third scoring Richmond; Eiling hit to short stop, Swanson making second. Eiling was caught at second.

Sixth Inning

House of David—Faust hit to short stop, thrown out at first; Danaher stretched a single into a double over first base; Hipp hit a scorcher to Richmond who threw him out at first; Faust came in on an overthrow to third. Sharrock hit to short stop and was out at first.

Brainerd—Bedal struck out, Jarboe grounded to first and H. Swanson flied to right field.

Seventh Inning

House of David—Heckman hit to short, out at first; Swanson walked; Falk struck out, and Wierman did the same.

Brainerd—Schwendeman thrown out at first from short; Richmond flied to catcher and Skiba grounded to first.

Eighth Inning

House of David—Faust flied to short stop; Danaher hit to second, out at first; Hipp hit to Richmond, out at first.

Brainerd—Swanson struck out; Eiling did the same and Nutting flied to second base.

Ninth Inning

House of David—Sharrock hit

Nutting; Heckman struck out and Miller out, short stop to first. Brainerd—Kaufman hit to short, out at first; Wally Engbretson and Swanson struck out.

WERE FIRST PLACED IN SUB CELLAR

GIVEN A LOWER FIRST DIVISION POSITION IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

AND MOST OF BASEBALL WRITERS FIGURED THAT WAS OPTIMISTIC

By MAX BUCKINGHAM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(UP)—Early this spring baseball writers went down to the training camps and gave observations as to what teams would be "up there" when the 1927 season rolled to a close.

The Chicago Cubs were given not much better than a lower first division position—and most of the baseball writers figured that was a very optimistic view.

Yet the Cubs today are out in front with a three and one-half game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates and are playing sensationally. They have never been out of the running since the season started.

Some of the things which have brought the Cubs to this position include:

Charley Root, pitching ace, has won 29 ball games—the first pitcher in either league to win 20 games.

A number of long winning streaks the last of which is still going on. The Cubs up to today have won eight consecutive games.

A real murderers' row, not so outstanding as the New York Yankees, but nevertheless deadly. Webb is hitting .332. Hack Wilson .316. Gabby Hartnett .314. Riggs Stephenson .329. Charley Grimm .322. Woody English .307.

Wilson, Hartnett and Webb are inclined to long distance clouting and all have a number of home runs to their credit for the season.

Elwood English, $50,000 prize from the American Association, has suddenly hit his stride and is playing phenomenally at the short field. Paired with Sparky Adams and Charley Grimm, English rounds out a well balanced infield.

The one thing, however, that marks the Cubs as a very decided possibility for the National League championship has been brought by Joe McCarthy, the tactician Irish leader of the Cubs. He wants a team that will play every minute. In case they don't play he shifts the team.

The Cubs have won a number of games in the late innings this season mainly because they wouldn't quit fighting. That is McCarthy's creed instilled in the club.

"I'll make no predictions. We'll be in there fighting," the leader of the Bruins said at the opening of the season.

With a grin he amplified this statement a little today:

"The boys sure are fighting, aren't they?"

RICKARD LUCK RELIED ON TO BRING SUCCESS

TEX BANKS ON LAKE FALL TO MODERATE LAKE BREEZES

WEATHER BUREAU OFFICIALS PROMISE SOME DECENT WEATHER

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The often mentioned "Rickard luck" again is to be called upon to make the coming heavyweight championship fight between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey a success.

Soldiers' Field, where the spectacle is to be staged September 22, borders on Lake Michigan. Wind whipping off the lake in early fall generally are tinged with the first of the season's cold.

Rickard was reminded of that fact by George Getz, nominal promoter of the bout.

"Well, we can trust that there will be a late fall this year and that the night will not be bad," the promoter, who has been so fortunate in making big bouts, said.

He further said that he already

RAIN TAKES PROMINENCE IN BIG GAMES

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SET BACK BY THE WET WEATHER

NONE OF NATIONAL LEAGUE TEAMS WERE ABLE TO PLAY

(By United Press)

Rain took the greatest prominence in yesterday's schedule of major league baseball and only two games were played. None of the National League teams were able to play.

The Boston Red Sox continued their victorious manner by defeating Detroit 3-2 for the sixth consecutive victory. Ruffing was touched up by the Detroit hitters but steady support and timely hitting behind him brought the victory.

In the only other major league game played Cleveland defeated Washington 6-1. Walter Johnson was driven from the mound while Shaute held the Senators down to seven hits.

Toledo, O.—Toledo took the 4th and last game of the series here from Minneapolis, winning 5 to 2. Winner allowed the Millers seven scattered hits while two doubles and a triple in the opening stanza drove Wilson from the box. Middleton, who relieved, held the Hens but Minneapolis could not overcome the lead of the first inning.

Columbus, O.—St. Paul took a hectic victory from Columbus here, 15 to 6. A homer with the bases filled, a triple under the same circumstances, and several arguments with umpires that resulted in banishment from the game for three men, were some of the high lights in the game.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Indianapolis, in a batting rally in the fourth and fifth innings, bunched hits to win from Milwaukee here, 5 to 4. Schupp, who pitched a good game for the Indians, had to be taken from the game after being struck on the head with a bat thrown by a player going to first as Schupp was coming in from third.

had consulted with weather bureau officials and that they promised very decent weather at the time of the fight. No rains and no cold weather are indicated in the advance forecast for the fight.

Rickard left Chicago yesterday to return to New York for the Delaney Paulino fight there. He will return to Chicago over the week-end and remain until after the Tunney-Dempsey go.

"Never have I seen anything go along so smoothly," Rickard said. "There is a great bunch of fellows helping to handle this bout. Every one is giving the greatest of co-operation, and you can take it from me the bout will be a sell-out."

Already approximately $1,000,000 in seats have been contracted for and orders in the bulk are coming in daily. Arrangements with railroads whereby out of town fans may purchase seats—at least contract for them—at the same time they buy their railroad tickets to Chicago, are bringing in a number of orders. Special trains from Los Angeles, the Northwest, Kansas City, Dallas and New York already have been arranged.

Managers of both Dempsey and Tunney will be in Chicago this week end to select training sites. Dempsey will train privately, it has been announced. Both fighters are in light training now and probably will be here about the 16th or 18th.

BIG TENNIS

SHOW OPENS AT FOREST HILLS

WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL TEAM MATCH, GREAT BRITAIN VS. AMERICA

WOMEN'S NATIONAL THEN FOLLOWS, WITH WEEK INTERVENING

By MARY K. BROWNE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright, 1927, by United Press)
New York, Aug. 9.—The big tennis show is here.

It will open this week at Forest Hills, Long Island, with the Women's International team match, Great Britain vs. America. That will be followed by the Women's National with a week intervening, during which the high mugs will hold Davis Cup trial matches. Then will come the men's National doubles and mixed doubles at Boston. A climax will be reached in the next to the last act when France is scheduled to meet America in the Davis Cup matches. The last act of the big show will be the Men's National.

The general opinion is that Helen Wills is a sure bet for the American championship. She has improved so much she is not seriously threatened by any of the amateurs. The competition will be the keenest of championship has ever known because of the presence of the entire English International team and Miss Ika Bouman, French and Holland champion.

The only woman who stands between Helen Wills and world supremacy is Suzanne Lenglen and she is no longer eligible to compete in amateur tournaments.

Opinion on William T. Tilden's ability to regain his championship differs.

The only phase of William Tilden's tennis machine which troubles me is not physical or mechanical, but mental. I wonder if his confidence has not been badly shaken.

Tilden can still play tennis strokes that no tennis player today can equal. He has the wallop which carried the K. O. of the ring and no one will be foolish enough not to give the fellow with the wallop an outside chance at least.

LaCoste, Cochet and Borotra are clever, accurate players but Tilden is accurate as well.

If the delicate mental equipment of a highly nervous and temperamental player like William Tilden is seriously impaired, it will take a great deal of tennis to bring it back to normal. It usually takes a good victory to bring confidence, but it takes confidence to obtain the victory, so it is rather a hopeless circle.

Electrified News

"HOOKING UP" a city on a UNITED PRESS news system is an event of greater import than the coming of a railroad or the opening of irrigation.

A telegraph wire is led into a newspaper plant—the proper mechanism attached—and the community then has established an exchange of news with the whole world!

The smallest town may have the same wealth of news that the people of the greatest cities enjoy. Asia, Africa, Japan become as close—in the matter of news transmission—as the nearest village.

This newspaper is a client of the UNITED PRESS Associations, one of the greatest news-gathering organizations on the globe. Its lines of communication gird the earth as a net-work.

News is electrified. It travels with the speed of light. And back of it is the enterprise of this great American organization with its own highly trained staff of men at home and in foreign lands.

The UNITED PRESS newspaper of any city is always a superior newspaper.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(UP)—Early this spring baseball writers went down to the training camps and gave observations as to what teams would be "up there" when the 1927 season rolled to a close.

The Chicago Cubs were given not much better than a lower first division position—and most of the baseball writers figured that was a very optimistic view.

Yet the Cubs today are out in front with a three and one-half game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates and are playing sensationally. They have never been out of the running since the season started.

Some of the things which have brought the Cubs to this position include:

Charley Root, pitching ace, has won 29 ball games—the first pitcher in either league to win 20 games.

A number of long winning streaks the last of which is still going on. The Cubs up to today have won eight consecutive games.

A real murderers' row, not so outstanding as the New York Yankees, but nevertheless deadly. Webb is hitting .332. Hack Wilson .316. Gabby Hartnett .314. Riggs Stephenson .339. Charley Grimm .322. Woody English .307.

Wilson, Hartnett and Webb are inclined to long distance clouting and all have a number of home runs to their credit for the season.

Elwood English, $50,000 prize from the American Association, has suddenly hit his stride and is playing phenomenally at the short field. Paired with Sparky Adams and Charley Grimm, English rounds out a well balanced infield.

The one thing, however, that marks the Cubs as a very decided possibility for the National League championship has been brought by Joe McCarthy, the taciturn Irish leader of the Cubs. He wants a team that will play every minute. In case they don't play he shifts the team.

The Cubs have won a number of games in the late innings this season mainly because they wouldn't quit fighting. That is McCarthy's creed instilled in the club.

"I'll make no predictions. We'll be in there fighting," the leader of the Bruins said at the opening of the season.

With a grin he amplified this statement a little today:

"The boys sure are fighting, aren't they?"

RICKARD LUCK RELIED ON TO BRING SUCCESS

TEX BANKS ON LATE FALL TO MODERATE LAKE BREEZES

WEATHER BUREAU OFFICIALS PROMISE SOME DECENT WEATHER

By EDWARD C. DERR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Aug. 9.—The often mentioned "Rickard luck" again is to be called upon to make the coming heavyweight championship fight between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey a success.

Soldiers' Field, where the spectacle is to be staged September 22, borders on Lake Michigan. Wind whipping off the lake in early fall generally are tinged with the first of the season's cold.

Rickard was reminded of that fact by George Getz, nominal promoter of the bout.

"Well, we can trust that there will be a late fall this year and that the night will not be bad," the promoter, who has been so fortunate in staging big bouts, said.

He further said that he already

RAIN TAKES PROMINENCE IN BIG GAMES

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL SET BACK BY THE WET WEATHER

NONE OF NATIONAL LEAGUE TEAMS WERE ABLE TO PLAY

(By United Press)

Rain took the greatest prominence in yesterday's schedule of major league baseball and only two games were played. None of the National League teams were able to play.

The Boston Red Sox continued their victorious manner by defeating Detroit 3-2 for the sixth consecutive victory. Ruffing was touched up by the Detroit hitters but steady support and timely hitting behind him brought the victory.

In the only other major league game played Cleveland defeated Washington 6-1. Walter Johnson was driven from the mound while Shaute held the Senators down to seven hits.

Toledo, O.—Toledo took the 4th and last game of the series here from Minneapolis, winning 5 to 2. Wierman allowed the Millers seven scattered hits while two doubles and a triple in the opening stanza drove Wilson from the box. Middleton, who relieved, held the Hens but Minneapolis could not overcome the lead of the first inning.

Columbus, O.—St. Paul took a hectic victory from Columbus here, 15 to 6. A homer with the bases filled, a triple under the same circumstances, and several arguments with umpires that resulted in banishment from the game for three men, were some of the high lights in the game.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Indianapolis, in a batting rally in the fourth and fifth innings, bunched hits to win from Milwaukee here, 5 to 4. Schnupp, who pitched a good game for the Indians, had to be taken from the game after being struck on the head with a bat thrown by a player going to first as Schnupp was coming in from third.

had consulted with weather bureau officials and that they promised very decent weather at the time of the fight. No rains and no cold weather are indicated in the advance forecast for the fight.

Rickard left Chicago yesterday to return to New York for the Delany-Paulino fight there. He will return to Chicago over the week-end and remain until after the Tunney-Dempsey go.

"Never have I seen anything go along so smoothly," Rickard said. "There is a great bunch of fellows helping to handle this bout. Every one is giving the greatest of co-operation, and you can take it from me the bout will be a sell-out."

Already approximately $1,000,000 in seats have been contracted for and orders in the bulk are coming in daily. Arrangements with railroads whereby out of town fans may purchase seats—at least contract for them—at the same time they buy their railroad tickets to Chicago, are bringing in a number of orders. Special trains from Los Angeles, the Northwest, Kansas City, Dallas and New York already have been arranged.

Managers of both Dempsey and Tunney will be in Chicago this week end to select training sites. Dempsey will train privately, it has been announced. Both fighters are in light training now and probably will be here about the 16th or 18th.

BIG TENNIS

SHOW OPENS AT FOREST HILLS

WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL TEAM MATCH, GREAT BRITAIN VS. AMERICA

WOMEN'S NATIONAL THEN FOLLOWS, WITH WEEK INTERVENING

By MARY K. BROWNE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1927, by United Press)
New York, Aug. 9.—The big tennis show is here.

It will open this week at Forest Hills, Long Island, with the Women's International team match, Great Britain vs. America. That will be followed by the Women's National with a week intervening, during which the high moguls will hold Davis Cup trial matches. Then will come the men's National doubles and mixed doubles at Boston. A climax will be reached in the next to the last act when France is scheduled to meet America in the Davis Cup matches. The last act of the big show will be the Men's National.

The general opinion is that Helen Wills is a sure bet for the American championship. She has improved so much she is not seriously threatened by any of the amateurs. The competition will be the keenest our championship has ever known because of the presence of the entire English International team and Miss K. Bouman, French and Holland champion.

The only woman who stands between Helen Wills and world supremacy is Suzanne Lenglen and she is no longer eligible to compete in amateur tournaments.

Opinion on William T. Tilden's ability to regain his championship differs.

The only phase of William Tilden's tennis machine which troubles me is not physical or mechanical, but mental. I wonder if his confidence has not been badly shaken.

Tilden can still play tennis strokes that no tennis player today can equal. He has the wallop which carried the K. O. of the ring and no one will be foolish enough not to give the fellow with the wallop an outside chance at least.

LaCoste, Cochet and Borotra are clever, accurate players but Tilden is accurate as well.

If the delicate mental equipment of a highly nervous and temperamental player like William Tilden is seriously impaired, it will take a great deal of tennis to bring it back to normal. It usually takes a good victory to bring confidence, but it takes confidence to obtain the victory, so it is rather a hopeless circle.

Mechanical and even physical handicaps by the loss of the second finger of his right hand have not hurt his game. In fact Tilden has played his greatest tennis since the loss of his finger.

To add to the difficulties, the Frenchmen, who are all younger than Tilden and on the crest of the wave, are gaining more and more confidence as the result of their victories over both Tilden and William Johnson since the Davis Cup matches last year.

It is my hunch and hope, however, that William Tilden will win back his laurels.

Electrified News

"HOOKING UP" a city on a UNITED PRESS news system is an event of greater import than the coming of a railroad or the opening of irrigation.

A telegraph wire is led into a newspaper plant—the proper mechanism attached—and the community then has established an exchange of news with the whole world!

The smallest town may have the same wealth of news that the people of the greatest cities enjoy. Asia, Africa, Japan become as close—in the matter of news transmission—as the nearest village.

This newspaper is a client of the UNITED PRESS Associations, one of the greatest news-gathering organizations on the globe. Its lines of communication gird the earth as a net-work.

News is electrified. It travels with the speed of light. And back of it is the enterprise of this great American organization with its own highly trained staff of men at home and in foreign lands.

The UNITED PRESS newspaper of any city is always a superior newspaper.

BEDAL HAS PERFECT DAY AT BAT. POLING OUT FOUR HITS; TEAM IN FINE SHAPE

N. E. NOW LEADS LAKE REGION LEAGUE; MEETS SWANVILLE NEXT SUNDAY

N. E. Brainerd continued its winning streak in the Lake Region baseball league Sunday, by shutting out Randall, 11-0.

W. Engbretson was on the mound for the locals, had his curves in perfect working order and had the Randall boys guessing throughout the game.

Bedal had a perfect day at bat, getting four hits out of four times up. The team as a whole displayed a real brand of baseball.

Next Sunday the locals journey to Swanville where they expect to meet some stern competition. N. E. is leading the league for the second half, is hitting hard and with but a few games left to play, is eagerly looking forward to the championship.

ELMER YOTER IS SOLD TO CUBS

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 9.—(UP)—Elmer Yoter, third baseman of the Indianapolis team of the American association, was sold to the Chicago Cubs today and will report to the Cubs immediately. The Indians get Fred Haney and an unspecified sum of money in return.

Yoter has been with the Indians three years. He had a previous big league trial with Cleveland. He is batting about .317.

Ruth and Gehrig at Bat

Ruth, first inning—safe on fielder's choice.

Gehrig, first inning—doubled to left.

Ruth, third inning—grounded out to first.

Gehrig, third inning—popped out to second.

Ruth, sixth inning—fled to center.

Gehrig, sixth inning—grounded out to short.

LOU GEHRIG BATS OUT 38TH HOMER

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—(UP)—Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the New York Yankees, batted out his 38th home run of the season in the ninth inning of today's game with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The blow was off Walberg and there was no one on base.

'GABBY' HARTNETT SPIKED IN FOOT

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(UP)—"Gabby" Hartnett, first string catcher for the Chicago Cubs, was spikd in the foot in the second game of the Chicago-Brooklyn doubleheader today.

Felix, Dodgers outfielder, slid into Hartnett trying to score from second.

Hartnett was forced to retire from the game.

INJUNCTION THREAT HANGS OVER MINERS' HEADS

Walsenburg, Colo., Aug. 9.—(UP)—With the threat of an injunction hanging over their heads, representatives of striking coal miners in the southern Colorado fields went into conference today with state officials seeking to end the walkout.

The miners' leaders met with John R. Lawson, state mine inspector, and members of the Colorado industrial commission, who urged an immediate order terminating the four-day strike which began yesterday in protest against the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

BASEBALL UMPIRES HAVE EASIER JOB THIS SUMMER ON DUSTLESS DIAMOND

Ruth-Gehrig Race for Homers Spurs Others to Hit Long Ones—Grounds Improved in Various Sections of Country, Sports Writers Declare.

BASEBALL umpires every day are getting to be better insured risks principally because dust, once the bane of the blue-clad arbiter's existence, is being eliminated.

Sports writers all over the country are taking notice of the improvement, even in the wildest leagues of Texas and the Far West where the old-fashioned "skin" diamonds are being replaced by grassed affairs that compare favorably with major league grounds.

In the older days, decisions at the bases and at home plate were always close because the runner tore up the ground so viciously that he invariably rised a cloud of dust, a dust screen—to borrow the nomenclature of naval strategy, that hid his efforts from the umpire.

In the cloud of dust the umpire was frequently at his wits' end to decide the play properly. His uncertain attitude was frequently misunderstood by the fans, with the result that pot-bottles, thrown with great force, were aimed at the judge of play.

Now he has an easy time, speaking comparatively, for dust is scarce. Sporting writers who have studied the matter this year explain the lack of dust as due to several factors.

Omaha, Aug. 9.—(UP)—Breaking his plane's tail-skid as he left Ottumwa, Ia., early this morning, Charles R. Parkhurst of Lomax, Ill., flew entered in the trans-Pacific air derby, had difficulty landing his two-seater Air King Special here today.

Parkhurst left Lomax at 6:10 p. m. yesterday. He said he intended to reach San Francisco tonight with possible stops at Cheyenne and Salt Lake City.

VAN SWERINGENS SEEK TO MERGE 3 EASTERN ROADS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(UP)—The Van Swearingen brothers today asked the interstate commerce commission for approval of the proposed merger of the Erie and Pere Marquette railroads into the Chesapeake & Ohio.

A brief requesting approval was filed with the commission today by attorneys for O. P. and M. J. Van Swearingen, Cleveland, leaders of the enterprise.

The C. & O. plans to buy outright sufficient stock of the Erie and Pere Marquette to control the line. Prices to be paid for the stock were agreed upon a year ago when the Nickel Plate combine was first proposed.

Sports writers all over the country are taking notice of the improvement, even in the wildest leagues of Texas and the Far West where the old-fashioned "skin" diamonds are being replaced by grass-sod affairs that compare favorably with major league grounds.

In the older days, decisions at the bases and at home plate were always close because the runner tore up the ground so viciously that he invariably rised a cloud of dust, a dust screen—to borrow the nomenclature of naval strategy, that hid his efforts from the umpire.

In the cloud of dust the umpire was frequently at his wits' end to decide the play properly. His uncertain attitude was frequently misunderstood by the fans, with the result that pot-bottles, thrown with great force, were aimed at the judge of play.

Now he has an easy time, speaking comparatively, for dust is scarce. Sporting writers who have studied the matter this year explain the lack of dust as due to several factors.

First, of course, has been the better diamonds. Increased interest in baseball has enabled the club owners to build better plants, with corresponding betterments in equipment. Grass diamonds cost money but the fans are supporting baseball more generously than ever and the bigger "gates" have gone to give the man who pays better surroundings.

On a grass diamond, which means a diamond with grass infield as well as grass outfield, there is only a little earth, chiefly on the paths, around the plate, and the pitcher's box. That small amount of earth can be rolled easily, much more easily and economically than when the whole infield is made of earth, the so-called "skin" diamond.

In addition to the rolling, however, both on the small amount of earth surrounding the grass diamonds and even on the skin diamonds ground-keepers have learned to lay the dust with various chemicals, the best of which is calcium chloride.

Another factor producing dustless baseball has been, strange to say, the baseball itself, which seems to be unusually lively this year.

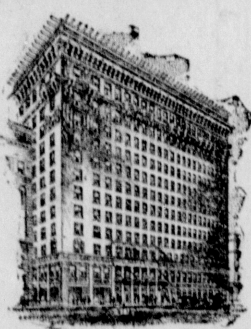

Home runs are more frequent than ever and the wonderful race for home run honors between Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig is causing great excitement over the whole country.

BRAINERD ELECTRIC CO.

CROSBY HARDWARE CO., Crosby, Minnesota

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Gyrafoam Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even collars, cuffs and wristbands, without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundrying unit you have ever seen or used.

BAIL SET AT $1,000

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pearson and Young Son Reported to be Improving

Anton Jondall, of Dykeman, was arraigned in municipal court this morning on the charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He waived hearing; and was bound over to the November term of the district court on bail of $1,000.

The charge resulted from an accident Sunday afternoon on Rural Route 6 when the car Jondall was driving overturned on the road injuring four people who were later taken to the St. Joseph's hospital for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pearson and young son are reported this morning to be improving from body injuries. The youth received a severe cut in his leg requiring 14 stitches.

IDEAL

Miss Agnes Monson returned home from St. Paul to spend a few weeks with her folks.

Miss Monson has been working in St. Paul for the last two years or more.

Hilmer Sata and Silvia Beaver drove to Brainerd Tuesday to attend the circus.

Mrs. E. J. Hauge entertained the ladies aid Wednesday. A very large crowd was present and a delicious lunch was served. The proceeds netted $9.50.

Houges twins and the Jim Taylor baby were christened. The twins were given the names Arlus Harriet and Marvin Harris, and the Taylor baby Hilmer Franklin.

Among them who were Brainerd visitors Tuesday were, Mr. and Mrs. John Hanson, Vernon Jackson and John Knutson.

Sivert Olson drove to Crosby Thursday to make a call on his daughter, Mrs. Guy Bye. He returned on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanson and family of Minneapolis arrived Saturday by car to visit a few days at the Ole Johnson home.

Iver Benson was a Brainerd visitor Thursday.

Miss Ruth Houge is assisting at Silver Peak for a few weeks.

Mrs. Jim Elwood, Mrs. Anna Hazelhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Enos Cline drove to Brainerd Monday to attend the funeral of Cod Kimball.

Three boys, Mr. Hunter, Mr. Enness and Mr. Jensen of Story City, Ia., are visiting at R. E. Houges.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Nelson of Brainerd visited at E. J. Houges Sunday.

We were told that Roy Houge and Joe Gampert enjoyed a very exciting battle Sunday landing a 20½ pound pickerel caught in Grass Lake.

THRIFT TICKETS TO FAIR

Sale Starts in Brainerd, is Opened by State Fair This Week

A local campaign to interest persons living in and near Brainerd, in the purchase of Minnesota State Fair advance sale thrift tickets at a saving of one-third of the regular price, has been opened by the State Fair.

Allotments of these advance sale thrift tickets, which sell at fifty cents each, have been received by Johnson's Pharmacy, Citizens State Bank, The First National bank, H. P. Dunn, which have been selected as the local representatives of the Fair, and are on sale at these places.

The sale of these tickets has proved very popular in the Twin Cities, and last year many thousands of them were sold at the reduced rate. The big success attained in the Twin City sale in 1926 is the cause for the extensive campaign in the country districts this year.

One or more tickets may be bought at a time, at a saving of 25c on each ticket. The ticket will admit adult or automobile to the outside gates, adult or child to the unreserved section of the grandstand, bleachers, or picnic table show; or can be exchanged at a value of fifty cents in the purchase of reserved or box seats in the grandstand or at the evening horse show. These tickets will be good any day of the Fair.

The sale of these tickets will close here on Saturday, August 27.

A reckless driver at midnight yesterday crashed into three cars parked in front of the Juel block damaging them considerably and also his own. The driver left before he was known.

The cars damaged were: Ford roadster, owned by Robert Anderson, clerk in the store room of the N. P. shops. The left rear wheel was torn off.

Pontiac, owned by F. E. Janneck, manager of the Fidelity store. The car was thrown on its side on the sidewalk with the body damaged.

Hudson coach, owned by Basil T. Heath. The three cars were taken this morning to garages for repairs. Police are investigating the case.

JOINT CONCERT AT LUM PARK

Brainerd Municipal and Crosby Bands Are to Play

AT RUSTIC BAND STAND

Latter Designed by C. H. Ritter, Caretaker at This City Park

Tomorrow night, at Lum Park, the music lovers of Brainerd will have another opportunity to hear a joint concert of the Brainerd Municipal band and the Crosby band. The concert will inaugurate the use of the new rustic band stand that has been erected and whose originality of design and desirability has evoked much comment.

For many years the Brainerd park board with Director Hiller and Mr. Anderson have discussed plans for a stand that could be screened against the insects which are naturally attracted to the lights that illuminate the players and their music. Many propositions had been submitted but were discarded on account of the expense that would be involved in building. The present plans were submitted by C. H. Ritter, caretaker of the park, and seemed to be the only ones that could be carried out with the limited amount of money available.

"WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW," by Patsy Ruth Miller, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Sullivan—slender, beautiful, red-headed—is an orphan. Wally Mason, a young reporter, loves Mary. But she disbelieves in love. Mary's elder brother, David, is sentenced to prison for an auto fatality. The Charity Department takes Bobby, the younger. Mary gets a job in a night club. It is raided. Mary, judged to have criminal influences, is sentenced to a reform school. She runs away to visit Bobby, who is ill. Arthur Graham, rich young man involved in David's conviction, takes her and Bobby to live with him; and proposes to her.

"Shall we take a walk, Mary?" "Yes."

Arthur Graham took her hand and led her out to the garden path, a path splattered with the dust of the stars, of which there were millions. There was a silver haze in the velvet of the heavens. The trees rustled with the whisper of countless messages. "It's perfect—perfect," said Mary, and her hand held Arthur's tightly. There was an ache in her throat because she wanted to cry with the beauty of it.

Arthur's voice came to her through the brush of the night up on her cheek. "Is everything perfect, Mary?" "Everything."

They strolled the length of the walk and turned. Is everything perfect, Mary? No, nothing is perfect, Arthur. There is David to whom the delight of this night is denied—and—and—well that is all. He folded her hand over his arm. "Mary dear—"

"Yes?" She lifted the little pointed face with the fringe of hair that lay like a gloss on her forehead.

"I want you to know—that I love

"Just in time, mother!" He enfolded her in a great hug.

you. I ask you to become my wife."

Somehow there was pain in that. It quickened her breath and jerked her heart from its customary groove. Her fingers tightened on the muscle of his arm and she could feel the hardness beneath. Strength. It emanated from him, and yet—was that what she wanted? These last few weeks at the house on the hill had soothed and fanned balm into the spirit that had been torn ragged. There was no longer that burning need of aid, an aid that could not be dug up by the feebleness of her hands. Now there lay peace in her heart, its wings folded, prepared to remain, and there was no longer the need for strength—any strength that would lift her from the chasms. And that had been Arthur's fascination for the girl whose life had been a matter of tennis balls. Tennis balls that her mother had seen and she had hated against the wind. Arthur was a life of gracious gestures. Beautiful gestures that came from a spirit that longed for solace. Any solace. The healing balm of gratitude perhaps. So beautiful, a life that is capable of gestures. And Arthur's had been that. If she married Arthur her life would take on a similar freedom, a freedom from rocks and chasms and the canyons that yawn deep for those who would walk the high places with no silver for their shoes. And she longed for the altitudes. Longed for them with an intensity which her slip into the road had merely heightened. Love? What is love? Service that dragged at you. There would be no need for service with Arthur. Arthur of the grand gestures could find his gold in the winds did he desire that. With Arthur she would have the opportunity for her longed. Freedom for her tennis, power for David and young Robert. What more did life hold that could not be bought with the sweep of gold dust? She would marry him, not for service, nor for the urge of passion, but for the independence of her spirit. And this would be perfection of the marital state, for Arthur could give her that.

"Dear?" The question was a breath on the night air.

She hesitated. Then: "Yes, Arthur," and hid her head against his arm where sudden shyness placed it.

"Now everything is perfect, Mary," he chuckled in a sudden blaze of spirit. "Now everything is perfect, you blessed child," and took her in his arms. There was tension there. Her body straightened with the shock of it as she felt the power of his arms enfold her. She had an insane desire to break loose and run, which was absurd upon contemplation. Her heart beat fast with overpowering relief at the interruption. He had not kissed her.

"Arthur?" It was Mollie who had moved over the fuzz of the grass unheeded.

"Just in time, mother!" He laughed boyishly and enfolded her in a great hug. "Arthur! Let me down!"

"Not until you kiss me, mother!" "What is it, you great booby, you," though she knew.

"I'm engaged!" "My heart, Arthur! My heart!" "Bless your heart, mother! It's beating with joy!"

"Oh, Arthur! And Bernice not yet cold in the ground!" He sobbed. "Look here, mother, I loved Bernice—and all that—but she's gone—and I'm here—and Mary is here too." He drew her into his embrace. "We won't announce the engagement yet. Mother—Mary—" gently toward Mollie. "Be pals, because you both love me," and Mollie had the grace to plant a kiss on Mary's forehead, then turned and left them.

CHAPTER XIV

B. Jasper Graham grunted. "Well—well—well—out with it!" although he knew too. There was the enjoyment of watching Arthur turn a deep red, though. Arthur with the sober swell of Graham jaw, and the little lines that forked from the corners of his eyes.

"Glad to hear it," said B. Jasper. "Glad to hear it. Let me kiss the bride," which he did. "Told your mother, boy?"

Yes, mother knew. "Gad, father, you're the best!"

"Spare me. Spare me," old Jasper twinkled. He turned to Mary, who had been standing in the light of the reading lamp, waiting for this bit of intimacy to have done. There was something fine about old B. Jasper, Mary thought. Arthur would be that way some day. Taciturn, probably, and crusty, but with the gold of his purse turning his heart mellow.

"Well now, Mary, what about an engagement gift, eh?" "It would be very nice," she dimpled.

"It would, hey? It would, hey? Name it, girl, and it's yours!"

She would ask for silver-tipped shoes—but Arthur was giving her those—

"There is nothing—" "Nothing, Mary? Come, come—a pretty filly!"

"I should like," said Mary, and the thought of David swept across her face leaving it a bit wan. "I should like to see David—and tell him—"

B. Jasper fumed. "You'll see him. You'll see him soon enough. An engagement gift, Mary!"

"That is what I should like," said Mary soberly.

"Well—well," it was disappointing to tell it to her now, but if she would prefer that above everything else she should have it, the pretty little filly with the hair that swung.

Arthur could no longer contain the news. "We've been planning that for some weeks now, dear. Father is using his influence to have David freed."

"Mary!" He caught her where she staggered.

"Now, now, Mary, what's all this?" "I'm all right," said Mary weakly. "It was a bit sudden—you'll admit it was sudden? Oh dear," she pushed the hair from her forehead with her free hand.

Arthur, anxiously as he bent to peer into her face, "You're all right, dear?"

"Of course—of course—and is I'm not, it's just happiness! Oh, Arthur!" She put her handkerchief to her face and came to lean it against Jasper's breast, while he stroked her hair, muttering, "Now—now—a pretty little filly like you—"

"This is perfectly ridiculous, and I'm ashamed of myself," sobbed Mary against B. Jasper, "but I'm so happy!"

"Shouldn't have thrown it at her that way, Dad."

"She's all right, boy. Eh, Mary?" "Perfectly," and after wiping the tears from her cheeks and eyes she turned a radiant face to both men, though the tears welled again and raced unheeded down the course of her cheeks.

Just a Pasture-al Tale

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(Copyright.)

THE cow bell's distant tinkle broke suddenly into loud clangings, undervoced by the thuddings of rapid hoofs. Peggy Lynn, in wait at the drawbars, listened, smiling happily, then began calling keen and mellowly: "Sook cow! Sook-ook! Sook-ook! Sook Blue-bell! Brandy! Bell-Cow! Cherry! Lilac! Lady Luck! Sook-ook Sook-ook!"

Lucky they were coming thus early—half an hour ahead of sundown. It meant they were tight as drums with tender new grass and browse that by morning would be turned miraculously into foamy, creamy milk. Pastures got greener daily, still they didn't match the range along the creek—valley growth was always two weeks ahead of upland. Besides the creatures loved it so well that they had to be driven home, not called, the first few days. Also they had got tasty licks of bran-and-salt. Peggy and Jimmy, her loyal helper, and after a sort, partner, had recklessly taken over the Lynn cows, not on shares as would have been safe, but upon a strict cash basis.

Peggy wanted real money in hand—the one very good thing she had ever lacked. Things came so easily she never had the fun of wanting them very, very badly. Henceforth she would buy or go without as she chose—of course keeping a tight rein on poor Jimmy, whose supreme joy in a dollar was the wasting of it. This notwithstanding she had bought a bit of land, fairly dragged into it by Miss Peggy, and it was less than half paid for. Only a cabin—but it meant shelter for Jim's flock. Isham, eldest of the lot, stood rope in hand before the calfpen whence already lusty bawlings answered the mother-chorus of lowlings. Isham "kept off" calves—raising them was part of the game. A mighty profitable part when, as this season, they were all heifers that in twenty months would be fine young cows worth manyfold their cost in milk.

Good stock all—returning a pound of butter, down-weight, daily.

Dusk fell before milking ended—with every cup and bucket brimming full, not to name extras. That meant churning twice all round next day—each cow's milk was kept separate. Troublesome—but worth it. Lynnbrook customers were glad to pay three times the market rate. Then there was the buttermilk, butterflecked, almost as rich as cream—enough of it for all the black folk and white, the puppies and the youngest pigs. Often hot hoe cake went along with it—feeding the hungry was Peggy's dear delight.

It was partly that which made her deaf to the creamery man, who had pestered her, since he opened in March, to patronize him, saying: "Not quite so much money, maybe, until we're firm in the saddle; but—think of the trouble you'll miss and the pedigree pigs and calves you can raise on your skim milk!"

This May twilight she was dreadfully tired. Her wrists ached, her hands cramped—the big milking had been too heavy a strain. As Isham put up the bars, after turning the calves in the pasture, a hail came across them—that pestilent fellow had come again. But on a different errand—in behalf of a friend who was planning to open an exclusive resort hotel in the foothills twenty miles off.

Accidentally he had tasted Peggy's butter—in result he was determined to have it, all she made—no matter about the price. Send for it every day—also for garden stuff, broilers, fruits, cake, strictly home-made. A fortune sure in any of them, once they had won their public.

"Let's talk it over at supper," Peggy conceded. The creamery man shook his head. "Better talk it out between you—I'll fetch him tomorrow," he said over his shoulder as he scuttled away.

Young Bruce, the hotel man, came, saw, but did not conquer—Peggy was too much in love with her work to think of quitting it. But she let herself be persuaded to help a bit by reporting to him over the telephone whenever she found things he might buy to his advantage. Thus they came to have a loose-woven comradery, never guessing its strength until October. The break might not have come even then but for Jimmy, who upon discovery that her sometime husband was real sure-enough dead and properly buried, said alrly, "So now I'm gwine marry dat Jim Baxter who's been pestering me so long. So we'll hab ter dissolve dis yere partnership."

At that Peggy laughed hard—then with Jimmy away sighed even harder. She had made money hand over hand—but she was tired. Upon this mood of discouragement in walked Sidney Bruce, Esquire, armed with double determination, a string of pearls and a platinum ring no normal woman could possibly resist. Peggy, being strictly normal, did not try to resist. Instead she slid the circle upon its proper finger deftly, twisted it about, flashed it in autumn sunshine, then said with her trickiest smile: "If I milk another month, I shan't be able to get it on." And she laid the pearls against her lips.

Sidney looked aggrieved, "I call that wicked waste," he said stiffly. Peggy giggled, saying demurely: "I can't let things I want go to waste."

"Neither shall I—hereafter," Sidney said, catching her in his arms.

First Large Mirrors

It is said that the secret of making large mirrors from cylinders of blown glass, silvered with an amalgam of tin and mercury, was discovered in Murano in 1507. For more than a century afterward Venice supplied the world with such mirrors.

Just a Pasture-al Tale

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(Copyright.)

THE cow bell's distant tinkle broke suddenly into loud clangings, undervolved by the thuddings of rapid hoofs. Peggy Lynn, in wait at the drawbars, listened, smiling happily, then began calling keen and mellowly: "Sook cow! Sook-ook! Sook-ook! Sook Blue-bell! Brandy! Bell-Cow! Cherry! Lilac! Lady Luck! Sook-ook Sook-ook!"

Lucky they were coming thus early—half an hour ahead of sundown. It meant they were tight as drums with tender new grass and browse that by morning would be turned miraculously into foamy, creamy milk. Pastures got greener daily, still they didn't match the range along the creek—valley growth was always two weeks ahead of upland. Besides the creatures loved it so well that they had to be driven home, not called, the first few days. Also they had got tasty licks of bran-and-salt. Peggy and Jinny, her loyal helper, and after a sort, partner, had recklessly taken over the Lynn cows, not on shares as would have been safe, but upon a strict cash basis.

Peggy wanted real money in hand—the one very good thing she had ever lacked. Things came so easily she never had the fun of wanting them very, very badly. Henceforth she would buy or go without as she chose—of course keeping a tight rein on poor Jinny, whose supreme joy in a dollar was the wasting of it. This notwithstanding she had bought a bit of land, fairly dragged into it by Miss Peggy, and it was less than half paid for. Only a cabin—but it meant shelter for Jinny's flock. Isham, eldest of the lot, stood rope in hand before the calfpen whence already lusty bawlings answered the mother-chorus of lowings. Isham "kept off" calves—raising them was part of the game. A mighty profitable part when, as this season, they were all heifers that in twenty months would be fine young cows worth manyfold their cost in milk. Good stock all—returning a pound of butter, down-weight, daily.

Dusk fell before milking ended—with every cup and bucket brimming full, not to name extras. That meant churning twice all round next day—each cow's milk was kept separate. Troublesome—but worth it. Lynbrook customers were glad to pay three times the market rate. Then there was the buttermilk, butter-flecked, almost as rich as cream—enough of it for all the black folk and white, the puppies and the youngest pigs. Often hot hock went along with it—feeding the hungry was Peggy's dear delight.

It was partly that which made her deaf to the creamery man, who had pestered her, since he opened in March, to patronize him, saying: "Not quite so much money, maybe, until we're firm in the saddle; but—think of the trouble you'll miss and the pedigree pigs and calves you can raise on your skim milk."

This May twilight she was dreadfully tired. Her wrists ached, her hands cramped—the big milking had been too heavy a strain. As Isham put up the bars, after turning the calves in the pasture, a hail came across them—that pestilent fellow had come again. But on a different errand—in behalf of a friend who was planning to open an exclusive resort hotel in the foothills twenty miles off.

Accidentally he had tasted Peggy's butter—in result he was determined to have it, all she made—no matter about the price. Send for it every day—also for garden stuff, broilers, fruits, cake, strictly home-made. A fortune sure in any of them, once they had won their public.

"Let's talk it over at supper," Peggy conceded. The creamery man shook his head. "Better talk it out between you—I'll fetch him tomorrow," he said over his shoulder as he scuttled away.

Young Bruce, the hotel man, came, saw, but did not conquer—Peggy was too much in love with her work to think of quitting it. But she let herself be persuaded to help a bit by reporting to him over the telephone whenever she found things he might buy to his advantage. Thus they came to have a loose-woven comradery, never guessing its strength until October. The break might not have come even then but for Jinny, who upon discovery that her sometime husband was real sure-enough dead and properly buried, said airily, "So now I'm gwine marry dat Jim Baxter who's been pestering me so long. So we'll hab ter dissolve dis yere partnership."

At that Peggy laughed hard—then with Jinny away sighed even harder. She had made money hand over hand—but oh, she was tired. Upon this mood of discouragement in walked Sidney Bruce, Esquire, armed with double determination, a string of pearls and a platinum ring no normal woman could possibly resist. Peggy, being strictly normal, did not try to resist. Instead she slid the circlet upon its proper finger deftly, twirled it about, flashed it in autumn sunshine, then said with her trickiest smile: "If I milk another month, I shan't be able to get it on." And she laid the pearls against her lips.

Sidney looked aggrieved, "I call that wicked waste," he said stiffly.

Peggy giggled, saying demurely: "I don't let things I want go to waste."

"Neither shall I—hereafter," Sidney said, catching her in his arms.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy
